

Meeting Guide: Presenting Contract to Madam Eunice

Your Situation

Timeline: May 2025 - January 2026 (8 months of work)

Original Request: Update old PHP website

What You Delivered: Brand new modern website (BETTER than updates!)

Your Concern: No contract was signed before starting work

Reality Check: You're in a STRONG position - she's seen the website and loves it. The work is done. You just need to formalize it.

Why You're NOT in Trouble

1. You Showed Value First

-  She's SEEN the working website
-  She can't say "I don't know if you can do it"
-  She already told you "the website can go live anytime"
-  She's excited about it

2. You Delivered More Than Asked

- Original: Update PHP site
- You delivered: Brand new modern website
- Features: 10 complete pages with advanced features
- Result: This is called "value engineering" - you gave her something BETTER

3. Your Pricing is Fair

- Kenya market: KES 49,280 - KES 200,000+

- Your price: KES 75,000 (lower-mid range)
- Maintenance: KES 12,000/quarter (only KES 4,000/month!)
- Reality: She's getting EXCEPTIONAL value

4. She's Already Invested

- ☒ She's been giving you content for 8 months
- ☒ She's been reviewing progress
- ☒ She wants this website live
- ☒ She won't walk away now

Opening Script for the Meeting

"Madam Eunice, thank you for meeting with me today.

As you know, the Workers Rights Watch website is complete and ready to launch. I'm really proud of what we've built together - it's so much better than the old PHP site would have been with just updates.

I've prepared a contract that outlines what's been delivered, the payment terms, and the ongoing support I'll provide.

The development fee is KES 75,000 - which is very fair for a 10-page custom website in the Kenya market - and quarterly maintenance is only KES 12,000 every 3 months, which is just KES 4,000 per month.

I know we didn't discuss pricing at the start, and I apologize for that. I wanted you to see the quality of work first so you could understand the value.

Let's go through the contract together, and please ask any questions you have."

Handling Common Objections

Objection 1: "But I just asked for updates to the old site..."

Your Response:

"Yes, and I remember when we discussed that. The old site was built with PHP which I'm not familiar with, so updating it would have been risky and could have broken things. I didn't want to risk damaging your website.

Instead, I built you a completely NEW modern website that's faster, more secure, and easier to maintain.

You've seen the website - it has all your content from the old site, PLUS new features like donation systems, photo galleries, job applications, and it looks much more professional.

You're getting MORE value than just updates. Honestly, rebuilding the old site with updates would have cost similar anyway, and you wouldn't have all these new features that will help WRW attract more donors and volunteers."

Objection 2: "Why didn't we discuss price before?"

Your Response:

"You're absolutely right, and I apologize for not bringing this up sooner.

I got so focused on making sure the website was perfect for Workers Rights Watch that I didn't want to discuss money until you could see the quality of work. I wanted to show you the value first.

Now you can see exactly what you're getting - 10 complete pages, donation system, galleries, everything working beautifully.

The price reflects the actual work done over these 8 months, and it's very fair for the Kenya market. Many agencies would charge KES 150,000 to 200,000 for this same work.

I kept it at KES 75,000 because I believe in WRW's mission and wanted to support you."

Objection 3: "This is too expensive..."

Your Response:

"I understand budget concerns, especially for an NGO that relies on donors. Let me show you why this is actually very reasonable:

KENYA MARKET RATES (2025):

Type	Price Range
Basic template website	KES 49,280 - KES 80,000
Custom website (5-10 pages)	KES 100,000 - KES 200,000
Agency prices	KES 150,000 - KES 500,000+

YOUR WEBSITE:

- ☒ 10 custom pages
- ☒ Donation system (3 payment methods ready)
- ☒ Photo galleries and document system
- ☒ Job application system
- ☒ Twitter feed integration
- ☒ Modern, professional design
- ☒ Mobile responsive

MY PRICE: KES 75,000 - This is LOWER than most developers charge for this quality and quantity of work.

MAINTENANCE: Only KES 12,000 per quarter (KES 4,000/month) - cheaper than most developers who charge KES 10,000-15,000 PER MONTH.

Honestly, if you went to another developer now, they'd charge you more to finish this work. You're getting excellent value."

Objection 4: "Can we negotiate the price?"

Your Response (Stand firm but offer flexibility):

"I've already priced this very fairly for the work involved. I worked 8 months on this, and KES 75,000 works out to less than KES 10,000 per month for all this work.

However, I can be flexible on the PAYMENT SCHEDULE:

OPTION 1: Current plan (50/50)

- KES 37,500 now
- KES 37,500 on delivery

OPTION 2: Three payments (if it helps your budget)

- KES 25,000 now
- KES 25,000 in 30 days
- KES 25,000 on final delivery

OPTION 3: Delayed start on maintenance

- Pay development fee now (KES 75,000)
- Start maintenance in 3-6 months when you have budget

- Emergency support available at KES 5,000 per visit

But the development fee needs to be KES 75,000. I can't go lower than that without undervaluing 8 months of professional work."

Objection 5: "We don't need quarterly maintenance..."

Your Response:

"I totally understand wanting to keep costs down. But let me explain why quarterly maintenance is actually an INVESTMENT, not just an expense:

WITHOUT MAINTENANCE:

- ❌ Website could get hacked (very common in Kenya)
- ❌ Bugs won't get fixed
- ❌ No SEO means no Google traffic
- ❌ Website could go down and you won't know
- ❌ You'll have to pay KES 5,000-10,000 per emergency visit

WITH MAINTENANCE (KES 12,000/quarter = KES 4,000/month):

- ✅ Website stays secure
- ✅ Bugs get fixed quickly
- ✅ SEO brings FREE traffic from Google
- ✅ You get quarterly reports
- ✅ Unlimited email support
- ✅ You save money long-term

Think of it like this: Would you rather pay KES 4,000/month for peace of mind, or pay KES 50,000 later to fix a hacked website?

And at only KES 4,000 per month, this is one of the most affordable maintenance packages in Kenya."

Objection 6: "I need to talk to the board..."

Your Response:

"Of course! That makes perfect sense.

Would it be helpful if I prepared a simple one-page summary for the board showing:

- What's been delivered
- Market rate comparison
- Value for money
- Payment options

I can also attend the board meeting to present the website and answer questions if that would help.

How long do you think the board will need to review this?"

Your Negotiation Boundaries

DO NOT GO BELOW:

- Development: KES 60,000 (absolute minimum)
- Maintenance: KES 10,000/quarter (absolute minimum)

FLEXIBILITY YOU CAN OFFER:

- ☒ Payment schedule (2, 3, or 4 payments)
- ☒ Delayed maintenance start (3-6 months)
- ☒ First quarter maintenance free (as signing bonus)

WHAT TO PROTECT:

-  Your time value (8 months of work)
-  Your expertise (this is custom work, not basic)
-  Your ongoing commitment (maintenance is real work)

Confidence Boosters

Remember These Truths:

1. ☒ You did PROFESSIONAL work (not junior level)
2. ☒ You built 10 COMPLETE pages (not a basic site)
3. ☒ You invested 8 MONTHS of time

4.  She WANTS this website (she's excited about it)
5.  Going to another developer would cost her MORE
6.  Your price is FAIR (actually quite generous)
7.  You're offering EXCELLENT support

If You Undercharge:

-  She might think it's low quality ("Why so cheap?")
-  You'll resent the project later
-  You can't afford to support it properly
-  You set bad precedent for future clients
-  Other developers will undercut you in future

If She Tries to Guilt You:

-  Remember: NGOs have budgets for services
-  They pay rent, they pay salaries, they pay for work
-  Your work has value
-  Fair pay allows you to provide BETTER support
-  You can't help anyone if you can't pay your bills

Body Language & Attitude Tips

DO:

-  Sit up straight
-  Make eye contact
-  Smile warmly
-  Speak clearly and slowly
-  Pause after making a point
-  Listen actively to her concerns
-  Take notes when she speaks

DON'T:

-  Apologize excessively
-  Look down or away

- ❌ Fidget with papers
- ❌ Rush through explanations
- ❌ Interrupt her
- ❌ Get defensive
- ❌ Show desperation

Tone to Use:

- Confident but friendly
- Professional but warm
- Firm but flexible
- Proud of your work

Closing the Deal

After going through the contract:

"So Madam Eunice, what do you think? Do you have any questions about the contract or the pricing?"

[PAUSE - Let her speak]

[ANSWER HER QUESTIONS]

If you're comfortable with everything, we can sign today and I'll have the payment gateways connected within one week. The website will be live and bringing in donations for Workers Rights Watch very soon.

What would you like to do?"

If She Says YES

1. ✅ Sign both copies of the contract
2. ✅ Both parties keep one copy
3. ✅ Get first payment (KES 37,500) - get receipt or transaction ID
4. ✅ Collect payment gateway credentials
5. ✅ Thank her warmly
6. ✅ Set timeline: "I'll have everything ready in 7 days"
7. ✅ Send confirmation email that evening

If She Says "Let Me Think About It"

"Of course! This is an important decision.

How long do you think you'll need? I want to make sure I keep time available for the final setup.

Is there anything specific you're unsure about that I can clarify now?

[ADDRESS HER CONCERNS]

Would it help if I sent you a summary email with the key points?

I'm available anytime this week if you want to discuss further."

Emergency Responses (If Things Go Badly)

If She Says: "I can't pay this much"

"I understand. What budget did you have in mind for the website?"

[LISTEN TO HER NUMBER]

If it's close (KES 60,000+):

"Okay, I can work with KES [her number] if we adjust the payment schedule. How about [her number] for development, and we can discuss maintenance later?"

If it's too low (below KES 50,000):

"I appreciate that, but I've invested 8 months into this project. At [her low number], I'd be working for less than KES 6,000 per month, which isn't sustainable.

The absolute minimum I can accept is KES 60,000, and even that is below market rate. Can the organization stretch to that?"

If She Says: "This website isn't worth that much"

[STAY CALM]

"I respect your opinion. Can I show you something?"

[Open laptop - show the website]

This website has:

- 10 complete custom pages
- Donation system ready for 3 payment methods
- Photo galleries with 12+ professional images
- Live Twitter feed
- Partner logos (18 organizations)
- Job application system
- Document downloads
- Mobile responsive design

This would cost KES 150,000+ from any agency in Nairobi.

What specifically makes you feel it's not worth KES 75,000?"

[LISTEN - ADDRESS SPECIFIC CONCERNS]

If She Says: "I'll find another developer to finish it"

[DON'T PANIC]

"That's certainly your choice, Madam Eunice. However, I should mention:

1. The website code is my intellectual property until payment
2. Another developer would need to start from scratch (can't access my code)
3. Starting over would cost you MORE and take another 6-8 months
4. I'm offering you full ownership for a fair price

I believe we can work this out. What's your main concern - is it the total amount or the payment timing?"

[FOCUS ON SOLVING THE REAL PROBLEM]

Remember These Mantras

- 🙌 "I did professional work and deserve fair pay"
- 🙌 "8 months of work has value"
- 🙌 "She wants this website - I have leverage"

- 🤝 "I can be flexible on HOW she pays, not HOW MUCH"
- 🤝 "Walking away is okay - I keep the website"
- 🤝 "I will not undervalue my work"

Final Advice

BE CONFIDENT, NOT APOLOGETIC

You didn't steal from her. You GAVE her 8 months of work before asking for payment. That's actually incredibly generous and shows good faith.

Yes, you should have contracted earlier (lesson learned for next time), but you're not in the wrong here.

STAND YOUR GROUND

- Development: KES 75,000 (minimum KES 60,000)
- Maintenance: KES 12,000/quarter (minimum KES 10,000/quarter)

You've earned this. Don't let anyone make you feel guilty for charging fair rates.

OUTCOMES

- Best case: She signs, pays, and you have a happy client
- Worst case: She doesn't pay, you keep the website, you learned a lesson

Either way, YOU'RE OKAY.
